Information Service

Check & Send

The Post Office has a Check & Send service for passport forms.

Passport forms that go through the Check & Send service are usually processed more quickly than those sent by standard post. However, if you are applying for your first adult passport, you should always allow up to six weeks.

Save yourself time and money

Forms that are not filled in properly can be sent back to you. You might have to pay an extra fee if your form is sent back and it will take longer for you to get your passport. You might even have to change your travel plans if your passport does not arrive in time.

We will:

- check that your form is filled in correctly
- make sure you have included everything you need
- post your form for you
- track the progress of your form.

The service is only available at the Post Office. There are reduced rates for the over 65s and students.
